

Mosaic Theater

Fairfax, VA

The Angelika Mosaic Theater, known as one of the most dynamic facilities in the greater DC area located in Fairfax Virginia. This American Art house is the home to many local artists, and a place for them to express themselves. This was a new construction that TEI was subcontracted to do the electrical work. Our scope of work includes: high-end LED and florescent lighting with dimmable capabilities controlled by the theater equipment, power distribution, UPS system, and voice evacuation fire alarm system. Installation of the lighting fixtures and final finishes were especially challenging since personnel lifts could not be used in the theaters due to the inaccessibility of getting them in and out of the second and third floors. The remaining installation of lighting, equipment, and devices required the use of scaffolding and ladders toward the final phases of the project.
